SPLENDID CIVIC DEMONSTRATION.

Strathcona and Edmonton extend welcome and congratulations to the new Minister of the Interior. Large Meeting held last evening.

The twin cities of the north extended a warm welcome to the Minister of the Interior yesterday when he returned from Ottawa to seek re-election in his old constituency. Mr. Oliver was accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Oliver.

RECEPTION IN STRATHCONA.

As the train pulled into the C.P.R. Depot at Strathcona, White Avenue and adjacent streets were filled with a mass of citizens jubilant over the honor done the district by the selection of its parliamentary representative for Cabinet honors. The Strathcona band were in attendance and after a few moments of an informal reception Mayor Davis of Strathcona read a complimentary address to the Minister.

Mr. Oliver replied briefly to the address, expressing the surprise and pleasure he experienced at the kind reception tendered him and said that while total impartiality was the duty of a minister there would ever be a warm spot in his heart for the immediate district with which he had been associated so long.

ENORMOUS PROCESSION

A procession of Strathcona people in carriages, headed by the Strathcona band was then formed to escort the minister to the town boundary on the road to this city. They were joined by the Edmonton City Council, Board of Trade representatives and scores of private parties who had driven over to attend the Strathcona celebration. The procession was upwards of a mile in length and it is estimated that in the neighborhood of one thousand people were in the carriages. The leading carriage contained the Minister, Mayor Davis of Strathcona, A. C. Rutherford, M. L. A., of Strathcona, and Mayor MacKenzie of Edmonton. Mrs. Oliver's carriage followed and then came the city Aldermen, Board of Trade representatives and the public.

EDMONTON GREETING

All Edmonton assembled on the river front overlooking the road up Ross grade from the bridge and crowds of cheering citizens were Edmonton's salutation as the leading carriages mounted the hill. Where the procession was joined by the Edmonton band and citizens who had not driven over to Strathcona, and proceeded along McDougall street to Jasper Avenue and west along Jasper to the Windsor Hotel. It had been announced that Mr. Oliver would address the gathering from the balcony of the Windsor and an immense throng quickly gathered which blocked Jasper and adjacent streets for a block around.

SPOKE BRIEFLY.

Mr. Oliver was received with applause when he appeared on the balcony. Owing to the day being cold his address was very brief. He expressed his thanks for the demonstration—a demonstration he took it of the citizens in honor of the progress and prosperity of the city. He had been in Edmonton a long time and while he had been in Edmonton he had worked for Edmonton. He hoped that in the large field of duty to which he had been called he would still be able to assist in the progress and advancement of the city.

The procession then returned and escorted the Minister to his home.

IMMENSE PUBLIC MEETING

The public meeting in the Thistle rink last night was one of the largest ever held in Edmonton, about 2,000 people being present. Mayor MacKenzie presided and on the platform were Ald. Doyle, Fieard, Giesbach, Clarke, Bellamy, Fraser and Macleod. Commissioners Kinnaird and Hargreaves, Messrs. Jas. McDonald, V. G. Ibbotson, A. T. Cushing, J. B. Mercer, T. W. Lines, T. Devlin and A. B. Campbell.

The mayor spoke briefly saying that it was seldom that a city had the honor of welcoming the Minister of the Interior in the person of the local member and expressing his gratification at the splendid turnout. He called upon Commissioner Kinnaird who read an address from the city. This was followed by addresses from the Board of Trade read by F. T. Fisher and from Old Timers read by W. G. Ibbotson.

MR. OLIVER'S REPLY

Mr. Oliver was greeted with vigorous applause as he came forward to respond to the addresses. He said he could not tell how surprised and pleased he was at the demonstration with which he had been greeted. If when his time to lay aside the office came he was the recipient of as splendid reception as had been given him on this occasion he would indeed be well satisfied. He trusted that in the new position to which he had been called he might be of further service to Edmonton than in the past. The kind reception he had just had taken the wind out of his verbal sails. He had expected to meet the hardest kind of a fight and had not yet been able to figure out where he was at. He assured the audience that he accepted the demonstration in the spirit in which it was tendered. The progress of Edmonton during the last decade had been great but would be far surpassed by the coming years. It was significant that of late eastern members of Parliament vied with each other in prophesying the future greatness of the west. He assured the citizens that he fully appreciated the demonstration made and the very kind feeling which he found everywhere.

After a few minutes spent in hand shaking and congratulations a torch light procession was formed and led by the band paraded the streets, the carrying in which were seated the Minister and the Mayor being hailed by a score of prominent citizens.

UNOCCUPIED TERRITORY

Over 100,000 of these machines have been sold in the U.S. within the last few years at the same price which is being charged for any other standard typewriter. This proves conclusively that the OLIVER is the very best machine made regardless of price.

As there is now in Montreal a factory devoted exclusively to the manufacture of this machine, it can be bought in Canada for the same price at which it is sold in the U.S. without adding from $25 to $30 to cover duty and charges, as do all the other standard writers.

This should be a very attractive proposition to any purchaser of writing machines.

PARLIAMENT.

Ottawa, April 1, 1906.

THE WEEK'S WORK.

The legislative week which has just closed, has added twelve speeches to the steadily increasing pile of Parliamentary literature on the educational clauses of the Autonomy Bills. Although a great deal had been said during the three days' debate of the previous week and the main positions had been developed, there still remained something more to be said and still other positions to be developed.

THE SPEAKERS OF THE WEEK.

Messrs. McCarthy and Lake gave voice to the views of Northwest Conservatives. Mr. Bourassa spoke for the clerical party of Quebec, of which he is not only the leader, but half the party in the House as well, the other half being Mr. A. Lavergne, member for Montmagny, who is yet to be heard from. Messrs. Lemieux, Demers and Belcourt spoke for the French Liberals. Mr. Bergeron speaking for the French Conservatives, followed the lead of Mr. Monk and expressed his intention to vote against Mr. Borden's amendment. Mr. Foster indulged in a two hours' scold of his opponents and all their works, but neither threw any light on the present situation, nor strengthened the position of his leader. Mr. Borden. Mr. Scott closed the debate for the week with an address of three hours and a half, which, bristled with facts, figures and points to an extent that will occupy a good deal of the attention of the opponents of the measure during the rest of the debate.

OBSTRUCTION AND CHALLENGES.

So far, or until Friday afternoon, there had been no definite obstruction, but from half-past three until half-past five on Friday, the Opposition speakers, headed by Mr. Borden, cut loose and vociferously and insistently demanded that a Minister of Interior and an active Minister of Public Works should be appointed forthwith. The period of thirty days during which the Minister of Interior might have returned to office without re-election having passed, the challenge was thrown down and repeated and repeated again, daring the Government to open a western constituency for the election of a new minister.

NO CAUSE FOR EXCITEMENT.

The Premier's reply was that a Minister of Interior would be appointed in good time and that he still hoped for the return of Mr. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works to the active duties of his office. He read a number of instances which occurred under the previous administration of corruption being left vacant for varying periods of from three months to a year and a half.

THREATS OF HOLD UP.

During the course of the discussion the threat was made by one or two members of the Opposition that the Autonomy Bills would not be allowed to pass unless and until at least a Minister of Interior was appointed. When all else fails the party of the Opposition obstruction is ever the weapon readiest to their hand and best suited to their temperament and abilities.

THE TERRITORIES TO THE FRONT.

There is one result of the Autonomy debate, which, while not contemplated by either party, is eminently satisfactory to the people of the Territories, and that is the unanimity with which the present and future importance of the Territories in the Dominion at large is conceded by all speakers. It is not so many years since the introduction of a Northwest question in the House produced rustling newspapers and empty benches. It was considered to be a trespass upon the time of Parliament which might have been spent more profitably in discussing the absorbing topic of lobster hatcheries on the coast of the maritime provinces or the alleged scandals of years ago. Now, however, every ear is alert when the Northwest is mentioned and members from front and back benches on both sides of the House compete vociferously in championing of the rights and interests. The present importance and future prospects of "their great Northwest."

BOURASSA HEARD FROM.

Mr. Bourassa, who re-opened the debate on Tuesday afternoon, led off in this strain, declaring the autonomy question the most important piece of legislation that had been discussed by the Canadian Parliament since Confederation. He quoted the words of the Prime Minister who spoke of the proposed acts as the placing of the stamp of Canadian nationality upon the Territories. He hoped that the stamp as placed would mean good will, fair dealing and respect for previous agreements, as well as of present disagreements, there and elsewhere in Canada. Mr. Bourassa is one of the orators of the House and it would be impossible to do his speech justice without a very large reproduction. His point of view was much the same as that of Mr. Monk, French-Conservative leader. He declared his absolute belief not only in separate schools, but in religious education in schools. This, he claimed, was the right of the Roman Catholic minority in the Territories under the British North America Act. This right, as he claimed was not being conceded; but for the sake of this principle of toleration which was measurably expressed, he was prepared to support the Government's proposals as amended.

FOR PROTECTION OF THE PROTESTANT MINORITY.

He quoted largely from the decisions of the Imperial Privy Council on the Manitoba school case in evidence of his contention as to what were the proper rights of the minority in the West; and placed beyond question the fact that the restrictive provisions of the British North America Act were placed there for the protection of the Protestant minority in the province of Quebec, not for the protection of the Catholic minority of any other provinces.

BLAIN QUOTES PROTESTANT PROTESTS.

Mr. Blain, Conservative of Peel, read a number of protests from various Protestant religious bodies directed against the educational clauses of the Autonomy Bills, also a number of quotations from newspapers commenting adversely on the said clauses, all based on the mistaken idea that a new condition was being created instead of an old condition being continued. He concluded by stating his intention to support the amendment of the leader of the Opposition.

LEMIEUX FOR ROMAN CATHOLIC RIGHTS.

R. Lemieux, Solicitor-General, followed speaking in English in support of the rights of the Catholic minority to separate schools under the terms of the Confederation Act. He dealt largely with historical instances and on the whole, made a very calm but effective statement of the case.

A WESTERN CONSERVATIVE.

M. S. McCarthy, Conservative, Calgary, was the first western representative to speak in support of Mr. Borden's amendment, and it cannot be said that his support was either enthusiastic or forceful. Mr. McCarthy confined his remarks chiefly to criticisms of the position taken, or supposed to be taken, by Western Liberals, attempting to show inconsistencies as between previous and present action, but without taking any strong position himself. It is somewhat remarkable that while the Conservative press of Ontario has been attacking the Government on account of the educational clauses of the Bill, Mr. McCarthy, who gave what was evidently a very carefully prepared presentation of his case, was absolutely careful not to commit himself to an attack upon the supposedly objectionable clauses. His speech was an effort to criticize without committing the speaker, and therefore as it was non-committal was not effectively critical.

CALGARY NOT THE CENTRE.

He spent considerable time in objecting to the division of territory between the two provinces; the point of his argument being that as a result of the division and extension of the boundaries northward, Calgary's claim as a prospective capital has been heavily discounted. Mr. McCarthy's idea apparently was that a province should have been created of which Calgary should have been sufficiently the geographical and commercial centre, present and prospective, to warrant the Government in establishing it as the permanent capital. He found serious fault with the fact that the two provinces being located on the 4th principal meridian the province of Alberta ran almost to a point in the south; but Mr. McCarthy has hardly fairly held the Rocky Mountains run northwesterly instead of north and south, or for the fact that Calgary is situated very near the foothills of the Mountains and therefore close to the western as it is comparatively near to the southern boundary.

FINANCIAL TERMS SATISFACTORY.

The conclusion of Mr. McCarthy's speech may very well be given in full as it appears in Hansard at the conclusion of fourteen pages of unusually adverse criticism. He said: "There is but one other question on which I wish to touch, that is, the financial terms. I am glad to then, to be able to agree with the Honorable member for Edmonton (Mr. Oliver). It seems to me that in discussing these terms it is not fair to make comparisons with the terms of eastern provinces. The conditions are altogether different. In the west schoolhouses and roads

"have to be provided; matters which are done in Ontario and Quebec by local taxation, which is in practice impossible to do in that country by reason of the great distances. The financial terms in comparison with those made to the other provinces are none too generous, and the development of the country is proceeding at such a rate that it is impossible for us to sit here and calculate what its future need will be."

FOSTER TURNS A SHARP CORNER.

Hon. George E. Foster was the speaker on Wednesday. His address had been looked for with interest from the beginning, as he had both a reputation and a record. His reputation as an orator and leader, as second to none in the Dominion, or it might even be said that Mr. Foster is in a class by himself, were it not that he had held office under a previous Government, and thereby had made a record by his advocacy of so-called remedial legislation directed against Manitoba. He must have made out a case that could not have failed of deep and far-reaching effect. As it was he was compelled to argue against the position which he himself had taken so strongly only a few years before, and everybody wondered how he was going to get around the fact. His method of doing so was certainly striking of original rather than successful.

THE REMEDIAL BILL.

About 1893 the Manitoba Government had demanded separate schools in that province. The rights of the Roman Catholics to separate schools had been especially guaranteed in the act by which Manitoba entered Confederation. Appeal was made to the courts and finally to the Imperial Privy Council. Under the restrictive provisions of the British North America Act it was held that as Manitoba had voluntarily established a system of separate schools in the province, their abolishment was a trespass upon the rights of the minority, which entitled them to appeal to the Dominion Parliament for remedial legislation—that is, the imposition of a separate school system upon the province by act of the Dominion Parliament. It was the Government of which Mr. Foster was Minister of Finance which undertook to pass this remedial bill and actually carried it at its second reading in the House of Commons by a considerable majority. By this time the life of Parliament had nearly expired and when the bill got into committee of the whole, the Opposition, led by the present Premier, obstructed it successfully for several months until the life of Parliament having expired, the bill could not be made law. Nothing could be more determined or more persistent than the effort of the Government of that day to fasten a separate school system upon the province of Manitoba, against the expressed and determined wish of its people. No higher flights of eloquence were ever heard in the Canadian Parliament than the advocacy by Mr. Foster of that particular bill. The educational clause of the present bill was being opposed because it undertook to continue in the Territories a "nominally" separate school system already existing and against which the people of the Territories had no complaint. As a follower of Mr. Borden he must expose the present bills while justifying himself for his action against Manitoba in '96.

THE MAJORITY HAVE THE RIGHT.

After justifying fully his action in the Manitoba case on the grounds of the requirements of the restrictive provisions of the British North America Act, which he fully and freely admitted, thereby countering the position of his leader, he said that he still believed in the interpretation of the act which had been given it; but at three successive general elections the minority whose rights he had endeavored to protect on that occasion, had declared distinctly in favor of the men and the party who had successfully stood out against the protection of their rights on that occasion. The will of the people, he said, was greater than the constitution, and he was prepared to accept the decision of the minority at three successive general elections on their final word on the question of the protection of the rights under the constitution. Translated into ordinary English, Mr. Foster's position is that, having in 1896, said the rights of the province of Manitoba for political support, when the goods were not delivered after three attempts he would no longer stand for what he had so frequently and so eloquently said to be the absolute right. To put it still more clearly, he believed in supporting the right as long as it paid.

INCITING TO AGITATION.

The close of his speech was anything but creditable either to his judgment, his ability or his record. Disregarding everything that he had said in the previous part of his speech, and still more disregarding his eloquence in 1896 in support of the letter and spirit of the constitution, he declared that the two western provinces were being refused their provincial rights, were being put upon them a badge of inferiority, that the educational provisions were a retrograde movement in thought and in practice which could not be maintained. He said: "The Right Honorable gentleman may lay on this badge of bondage, he may put on his restrictions, he may utter an irreparable decree of bondage, but I tell him that against the free thought and will of these two provinces with their coming millions of people, his statute of limitation will be

"as waste paper, and his chains of bondage as weak as threads of fibre. There is no hand which can fashion the chain and drive the rivet that will encompass and restrict the young giant of the Northwest in years to come. You may carry your project here, and the Finance Minister may cry, 'Peace, Peace.' But the moment it is carried through and made irrevocable, that moment begins against it the warfare of an unwilling people."

THE APPEAL OF A DEMAGOGUE.

This is certainly eloquent and forceful language, but, coming from the man who nine years ago had exhausted every resource of Parliamentary control to rivet upon a third western province western province not a school system which they had enjoyed for many years and had expressed no wish to discontinue, but a system which they had almost unanimously abolished and expressed their determination not to submit to, instead of the eloquence of a statesman, it becomes the mouthings of an irresponsible demagogue, a disappointed politician.

PLAYING AN OLD GAME.

Hon. Sir William Mulock, Postmaster-General, made a combative reply to Mr. Foster's harangue and introduced a little game by reading from some French-Conservative journals of Quebec, their attacks upon the Premier for having sacrificed the rights of the Catholics of the Northwest in the educational clauses of the Autonomy bills. By these quotations Sir William successfully nailed up the assertion which had already been made that the Conservative party was pursuing a double policy on this question, attempting to raise Protestant prejudice in Ontario and Catholic prejudice in Quebec. Towards the close of his remarks the Postmaster-General said:

"Go where you will throughout this broad empire with its four hundred millions of people of different races and creeds, you will find all left in the enjoyment of those things that they regard as sacred. It is this policy, this method of treating the people that has made Great Britain's Empire what it is today, widespread, powerful and stable, resting upon the affections of the whole people and holding the people together by the bonds of affection, and not by force or coercion."

A. E. Lancaster, Conservative, member for Lincoln, Ont., concluded the debate for the day.

DEBATE SPEAKS IN FRENCH.
On Thursday, Demers, Liberal, representing St. John and Berthier, Que., spoke in French in support of the Government measure.

ANOTHER FRENCH CONSERVATIVE SUPPORTS THE BILL.

He was followed by Mr. Bergeron, Conservative, representing Beauharnois, Que., who contended for the separate school rights of the minority, declared that these rights were being unduly restricted by the Autonomy bills, but that he would support the bills against the amendment of his leader.

BELCOURT FOR THE CONSTITUTION AND CONCILIATION.

Belcourt, Liberal, of Ottawa, followed with a carefully reasoned constitutional argument which brought out a great deal of contradiction and disorderly criticism from the Opposition. Near the close of his remarks Mr. Belcourt spoke as follows:

"Now, Mr. Speaker, what is the lesson that stands out most clearly in this controversy? Is it not the lesson that in this country appeals to race and religious prejudice, to passion and intolerance, though they may yield some temporary advantage, yet in the long run are bound to react against those who resort to them. Is it not the lesson that in this country government is possible only by tolerance, by conciliation, by fair and honorable compromise?"

ANOTHER WESTERN CONSERVATIVE.

Mr. Lake, Conservative, Ont. Appeal Assn., closed the debate for the day. Like Mr. McCarthy, he carefully avoided taking the pronounced stand against the educational features of the bill which the Ontario Conservatives had advocated. On this point Mr. Lake said:

"After nearly twenty-two years' residence in the Northwest Territories, I believe firmly that the public school system as at present administered, is the one best suited to the rights of the country. The fact that separate schools have been so little taken advantage of, shows that in certain centers and thickly populated districts there is no demand for them."

In the public school system of the North-West Territories provision is made to allow of religious teaching as has been frequently stated in this House, but I think the impression which has been conveyed by many speeches, that this religious teaching is the regular rule, is an erroneous one. It is not a matter of fact the general rule. In fact I do not know personally of one particular instance in which religious teaching is given during the last half hour. But it is open under the ordinances in any and every denomination to teach religious doctrine in the same school if they desire to do so and can obtain the consent of the parents and trustees."

Better than depilatories, because it is not poisonous; therefore, it will not cause blood poisoning, or produce eczema, which is so common with depilatories, and does not break off the hair, thereby increasing its growth.

Electrolysis, X-ray or depilatories are offered you on the bare word of the operators and manufacturers. DE MIRACLE is not. It is the only method which is endorsed by physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals and prominent magazines.

DE MIRACLE will be mailed to any address, sealed in plain wrapper for $1. Your money back without question if it fails to do all that is claimed for it.

PARLIAMENT.

"times. If they do not do so it is the fault of the people themselves. It means that they do not wish it and I take the ground that they should not be forced to have it."

A WESTERN LIBERAL SUPPORTS THE BILL.

Mr. Scott, Liberal of West Assiniboia, occupied all of Friday that was left to the Autonomy Bill debate after the attack upon the Government already mentioned had petered out. He began his remarks about half-past five, was interrupted at six by the adjournment, began again about half-past eight and continued to a little after eleven; but he had prepared such a mass of matter bearing upon the question in its different phases that he held the attention of the House better during the last hour than during the first half-hour.

MR. BORDEN'S CONTENTION AND ITS RESULTS.

He made many good points, but one or two will suffice as instances. The educational provisions of the British North America Act provide that when a province has granted special privileges to a religious minority and has afterwards taken them away a right of appeal lies to the Dominion Parliament to pass remedial legislation. Mr. Borden had contended that the words "at the union" contained in the British North America Act meant the date of annexation of the Territories to Canada and that because there were no people and therefore no schools in the Territories at the time the provisions of the British North America Act continuing rights already existing at the entry of a province into confederation did not apply so as to continue to the religious minority of the North West the privileges they now enjoy, because at that time having no existence they had no right. Mr. Scott pointed out that inasmuch as the North West Legislature had granted a dual system of schools which had continued from '84 until '92 and at the latter date had substituted a single system of state control, if Mr. Borden's contention was correct the remedial provisions of the British North America Act would apply to the Territories at the present time and the minority would have the right to re-imposition of a dual school system upon the Territories by act of the Dominion Parliament. Whether the words "at the union" meant the date of annexation or the date of the erection into a province the restrictive provisions of the British North America Act clearly applied as they were intended to apply.

A SATISFACTORY SCHOOL LAW

By accepting the provisions of section 16 as amended no doubt was permitted as to what the standing of educational matters in the Territories would be. He declared that the present system was absolutely satisfactory, that there had been no protest against it, and he believed that if it were to be abolished protests would come from Protestants as well as from Roman Catholics.

DO AS WE WOULD BE DONE BY

He alluded to the fact which had already been brought out and amply proven that the restrictive and remedial provisions of clause 93 of the British North America Act had been provided for the protection of the Protestant minority of Quebec. Knowing this, and reading the history of the country as it was, a Protestant he would be ashamed to deny to Catholics of the West the protection which had been extended to Protestants of the East.

CONTROL OF LANDS REPLACED BY SATISFACTORY FINANCIAL TERMS.

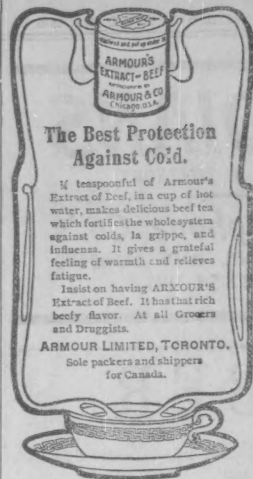

He had formerly been in favor of the province retaining control of their lands but the purpose was to ensure a revenue sufficient to carry the purposes of the Provincial Government. Now that this had been assured by very favorable financial terms contained in the bills he was quite satisfied to have the administration of the lands continued by the Dominion. For when other provinces had exhausted their revenues from their natural resources as they must in course of time, the revenues of the new provinces would still continue without being diminished as long as confederation endured.

NAMES FOR THE STREETS.

The plan proposed by the city commissioners Tuesday evening for re-arranging the system for street naming in the city, was to change the names of streets running east and west in the east end of the city. The names proposed were as follows:

Jasper avenue, this name to be applied to the recent extension and a new name given the former street from the junction eastward. The streets north of Jasper to be named respectively:

- Rice St. from boundary to 1st St.
- Elizabeth St. from boundary to 1st street.
- Bellamy St. from boundary to May street.
- Clara St. from boundary to 1st St.
- Boyle St. from boundary to 1st St.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.00.
